

Sarah C. Cunningham

1033 Spaight St Apt 2B
Madison, WI 53703

(608)258-9311
sccunningham@wisc.edu

Education

- University of Wisconsin, Madison
Currently in first year of the Biophysics Ph.D program
Advisor: Julie C. Mitchell
Research interests: Dynamics of metabolic and gene regulatory networks
- University of California, Santa Cruz
M.A., Mathematics, 2004
Area of emphasis: Finite groups
- University of California, Berkeley
B.A., Mathematics, 2001
Highest honors in the major
One of top five in mathematics graduating class

Teaching experience

- September 2003 - June 2004
Teaching assistant, UC Santa Cruz
(Multivariable calculus, two quarters, calculus for non-majors, one quarter)
- Summers 2002 and 2003
Eighth grade math teacher, Aim High summer enrichment program, San Francisco
- January - May 2002
Private math tutoring of three high school students

Honors

- Computational Informatics in Biology and Medicine traineeship, 2005
- University Fellowship and Wisconsin Alumni Research (WARF) Fellowship, 2004
- Achievement Rewards for College Scientists (ARCS) Scholarship, 2003
- Provost's Fellowship, UC Santa Cruz, 2002
- Dorothea Klumpke Roberts Prize for exceptional scholarship in mathematics, 2001